Description

Photograph, Black and white; Horizontal official U.S. Navy photograph of photographer's mate Stephen Bonelli bent over a metal work table repairing a Weston Master V Handheld light meter. Bonelli has light skin and dark hair. He is wearing glasses and dungarees, and has a watch on his left wrist. Various items including a metal canister, paper packets, wiring strips and fabric are placed on the table in front of him. The dark silhouette of a man can be seen through a doorway in the back right corner of the image.
